Recognize Manipulators:

Editor's note: This page has just been started.

"I would not trust a single word that ... says about his own motivations or about himself simply because ... is a con artist.

I know all about them. I've researched them. I know they ruined lives. They look into your soul, they see what you're missing, and they take advantage of that. The most surprising thing about con artists, it's just how normal and likeable they are, for a con artist's deception is a constant practice.

A con artist would pass a lie detector test with flying colors, because there's no tension there. To them, this is the truth. They aren't delusional. They're doing it very deliberately..."

- Maria Konnikova, writer and psychologist from Fyre Fraud (2019 film)

The name missing from the quote above is Billy (Billy McFarland), but it most likely applies to some of the people next to you at the concert, at the party, at the bar, on the cruise ship, or at Church.
