New Developments

October 03, 2021: It's been a lively few days. Every item listed below except for the August voice-mail incident was added or came up subsequent to Marie's campfire joke on September 25.

Sometimes a dam has cracks in it and it's best not to take a hammer to it. Marie's joke was a hammer.

1) An implied threat has been relayed to the book editor. The threat necessitates, and creates legitimate and reasonable purposes for, the following new website:

<https://raygustafson.news/>

The new site is one of the editor's sites. It's parallel to but separate from the Overcomers site.

2) Ryan Schubert's correct full name and other information is sought in connection with Child Protective Services and/or police reports that may be filed.

In particular, it needs to be determined whether or not that person spends much time alone with underage boys.

3) We've added more of the Ray Gustafson sexual incidents. To read about them, click on this link and scroll down. Warning: Some of the incidents are both grim and disturbing.

The story "Sucking on Ray Gustafson's hose" might be seen by some as similar to humorous scenes from the "American Pie" movies. It should be noted that Jake wasn't a willing participant.

The quasi-rape incidents are more serious. This really wasn't an ideal situation.

4) Jake has written more directly now about physical abuse. To read that page, click on this link.
Note: That page expands on the sub-theme of how abuse is possible and even common.

5) On August 25, 2021, Chameleon Aconitum left a threatening voicemail for Jake Gustafson. To listen to the voicemail and to read the PDF response and reflections on the project, click on this link.

WHAT IS THIS BOOK?

This is a personal story intended for U.S. readers. Especially current and former church-goers and people in problem relationships.

One context is Fundamentalist ministries. If you're familiar with the Baptist Church or have a position on Maranatha (MBBC), the story will be of interest.

The book also discusses toxic relationships, cases that involve manipulation or abuse.

There are situations that you're not expected to put up with or to take responsibility for. We'll discuss the line between things that can be worked out and situations that you should exit as quickly as possible.

The backstory is about Jake and Ray Gustafson, two brothers who were born and raised in the Fundamentalist world, and the different paths that they took.

Jake Gustafson is a reserved software developer in his 30s. He's committed to the community and faith that have been the cornerstones of his life since childhood.

Ray Gustafson is a massage artist and drug user in his 40s. He's a former Christian leader who positions himself as an Ex-Christian guru and, at the same time, seems to boast of bedding women who are as young as he's able to get.

Ray has been arrested and prosecuted for multiple drug and/or alcohol offenses. His future is bleak. It's safe to say that his life hasn't turned out as well as he might have hoped.

The two men are conflicted.

Jake retains his faith, but he's in the process of deciding where the boundaries that define community and faith lie.

Ray has explicitly rejected Christianity, but he seems to waver on this position. He's said to have tried to introduce the Bible to the local drug culture.

The key figures also include Chameleon, a manipulative and corrosive woman that both men have had as a lover. She doesn't define the story, but she does complicate it.

Chameleon was into BDSM and hard drugs and once did a threesome involving two gay men. "Lol, it's a miracle I didn't get HIV", she said. She asked Jake, on occasion, to watch her kids so that she could engage in prostitution.

Chameleon arguably wasn't the best match for a Fundamentalist man, let alone for two Fundamentalist brothers.

This site will go into signs of relationships that aren't on a rock-solid basis.

This book is Jake's look at his life, Ray's life, and different perspectives on Faith. Both the people involved and the public in general are invited to comment.
